

Enviromental Policy

Protecting the environment and human health is a core value of First Subsea, our operations shall be conducted in accordance with ISO 14001, applicable environmental legislation and other relevant requirements ensuring that pollution is prevented.

This includes the appropriate consideration of the management of environmental impacts in the design, procurement, manufacture, maintenance, support and disposal of our products.

- Aim to minimise any environmental damage and, where possible, to maximise any opportunity for environmental improvement.
- Comply with all legal requirements and strive to reduce any adverse environmental impact.
- Assess and consider adverse environmental impact as an important part of present and future decision-making.
- Encourage every employee to participate in helping reduce and prevent environmental damage.
- Develop a good neighbour policy to minimise the impact of our manufacturing and site activities.
- Provide information, training and support to personnel and operatives to monitor our environmental performance.
